FOREWORD

IN PRESENTING THIS THE TWENTY-SECOND EDITION OF THE MONTICOLA WE HAVE ENDEAVORED TO MAKE IT WHAT WE CONSIDER, A MORE OR LESS COMPLETE HISTORY OF WHAT HAS TAKEN PLACE AT WEST VIRGINIA UNIVERSITY DURING THE PAST YEAR. DUE TO A VERY LATE START, NECESSITATED BY WAR CONDITIONS OUR TASK HAS BEEN UNUSUALLY HARD. HOWEVER WE HAVE DONE OUR BEST AND WE BELIEVE THAT WE HAVE PREPARED A BOOK WHICH WILL PROVE A REAL TREASURE TO YOU. AS THE BOOK GOES TO PRESS OUR HOPE IS THAT IT WILL PLEASE YOU, FOR WE REALIZE THAT THE SUCCESS OF THE BOOK IS WHOLLY DEPENDENT UPON THE AMOUNT OF PLEASURE THAT YOU MAY DERIVE FROM IT.

ALEXANDER REID WHITEHILL

Alexander Reid Whitehill is a Pennsylvanian by birth and a West Virginian by adoption. He was born in Beaver County, Pa., within a few miles of the West Virginia line. His preparatory education was obtained in the public schools of his native county and at Beaver Academy and his collegiate education at Princeton University. On graduation from this celebrated institution he received the degree of A.B. and later he was awarded the degree of A.M.

In a competitive examination in his senior year he was awarded the Experimental Science Fellowship and, in accordance with its requirements, he went to Germany the year after graduation and spent some time at the School of Mines at Freiberg and at the University of Leipzig. Before returning to this country he visited nearly every country and large city in Europe.

After his return from Europe he spent four years in scientific and journalistic work in Nevada and California and then came to West Virginia to be near his old home.

After serving four years as Principal of Linsly Institute at Wheeling he was elected Professor of Chemistry in West Virginia University. When he came to this institution there was only one class in chemistry with 13 students, and now there are a dozen classes and more, and in these several hundred students are annually enrolled. An entire college building is now occupied by these classes.

In recognition of his scholarship and ability in the year 1888 the honorary degree of Ph.D. was conferred upon Professor Whitehill by the trustees of Washington and Jefferson College.

He was by appointment the Government delegate at the Eighth International Congress of Applied Chemistry held in Washington and New York in September, 1912.

In 1916 he was appointed by Josephus Daniels, Secretary of the Navy, a state director on the Organization for Industrial Preparedness and an associate member of the Naval Consulting Board. Previous to the entrance of America in the war West Virginia's associate members of the Naval Consulting Board made an inventory of all the principal industrial establishments in the State with the purpose of aiding the Government in the prosecution of its military operations.

Dr. Whitehill has written a History of Education in West Virginia and has published numerous articles principally upon scientific subjects. He is a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science and also of the American Chemical Society. These are the two largest scientific societies in the world. During the present year he has attended two general meetings of the Chemical Society, one at Cleveland, Ohio, and the other at Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Whitehill is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa Society and also of the American Association of University Professors. He was the first president of the West Virginia University Scientific Society and is an active member of the Crucible Club.

During his long career at the University he has proven himself a master of his subject and has had the rare gift of imparting knowledge with skill and judgment. His explanations are always clear and forceful, his experimental work rarely miscarries, and his students receive inspiration from his lectures. He has had a longer service as an active professor than any other instructor ever connected with this institution and during this service several thousand students have come under his instruction.

In appreciation of this service and as a tribute to his character and ability the Class of 1920 dedicates to him this number of the Monticola.

STARS OF GOLD

I.

With cheers for every star, we flung
Our flag a year ago and sung
    The songs of marching men;
    And all the season through
We proudly filled the flag with stars
Until they crowded field and bars,
    And still we cheer'd—for then
    Our stars were all of blue

But now in silence do we raise
Another flag too dear for praise,
    And every head we bow
    And for awhile withhold
Our cheers for banners filled with blue;
Another color shineth through
    The field and bars—for now
    These stars have turned to gold.

The night brings out the stars we say:
And now behold a Milky Way
    The night of war hath blazed
    Across the heaven's gate—
A belt of glory made of names
That shine forever steady flames,
    Forever to be praised,
    Above our Mountain State.

DIRGE.

*How the place is changed today
Since the hour they went away!
Changed the hopes of those they left,
Hopes of those that loved them best!
Broken is the golden bowl,
Broken too the mother-soul
Who despite her pride and trust
Waileth ever, "Dust to dust!"*

II.

We call the roll, and every name
Says Here! from out the cloudless flame
    Where Glory's banner waves
    In folds that never fade,
Call out the roll, so long and fair,
It sounds like distant words of prayer
    Where'er their bones are laid.

Call out the roll: each name a star,
Each star a poem nobler far
Than aught in my poor powers;
And if unknown there be
Asleep in some far distant place
A lad whose name we cannot trace—
Some unknown lad of ours—
O lad, this line's for thee!

This flag in some far future day
With reverent hands we'll lay away,
But still these stars shall beam
Above our campus old
And in our hearts for evermore
Until upon some radiant shore
All stars of blue shall gleam
Beside them, turned in gold.

DIRGE.

*How the campus lacks their feet,
For we never more shall meet
Them on the Circle, in the hall,
Greet them never more at all:
Woodburn waits for them to come,
Woodburn waits, her voice is dumb,
How the place is changed today
Since the hour they went away!*

III.

These stars are all of equal size,
Made so by equal sacrifice:
No less or greater light
In the Brotherhood of Death.
The deeds by which they won the star
Recorded were by a Registrar
Across the sky of night
While angels held their breath.

Nor does their star at all depend
Upon the place that saw the end
Of all they had to give,
Of all they had to pay—
On field of France, in cantonment,
In hospital, where'er was spent
(That honor still might live)
Their last, their last great day.

Some walked with us these college ways
For years and gained the scholar's praise:
Some tarried but a space
Until their finals came;
But who shall say when patriots fall
That place is not alike for all
In God's eternal grace
And time's eternal fame?

DIRGE.

*How the hills shall miss their voice
When our lusty men rejoice
Singing songs of work or play
In the new and better day!
How the State shall miss them when
She shall need the strength of men!
How the heart of love shall wait
Long, so long, at the open gale!*

IV.

A banner Blue and Gold, I ween,
Is dropped by spirit-hands unseen
Tonight upon the mound
Where each his rest doth keep;
Above each grave that spirit bends
And whispers, Alma Mater sends
Me here to bless the ground
Where son of hers doth sleep!

The grass shall grow and roses blow,
And time assuage the grief we know,
But each returning year
When March comes round anew
That spirit shall its visit keep Above each grave to watch and weep
And plant the banner there,
The flag of Gold and Blue.

The grass shall fail, the rose shall fall,
The ancient wind shall o'er them call
In Winters far away
When we shall be forgot,
But Alma Mater still shall go
In spirit where her sons lie low,
Till she herself decay
And all that is is not.

PAEAN.

*How the world has leapt to light
Into day from out the night!
How the world, redeemed anew,
Sees at last its dreams come true;
Dreams of poets and of seers,
Dreamed through immemorial years!
How the Nations rise and sing
Praises to Jehorah, King,
Him Who rideth on the storm,
Who upholdeth with His arm!
God of earth and sky and sea,
These our men we leave with thee!*

Junior Officers

Class of 1920

ERNEST MULLEN.....	President
LEONARD LEWIS.....	Vice-President
EFFIE ANDERSON.....	Secretary
JOE RICHARDSON.....	Treasurer
W. D. STOUT.....	Inter-Class Council

ROBERT EMMET MULLEN
Huntington

From Huntington our "Honus" came,
Hoping to add laurels to his name:
And that is why it came to pass
He is President of our class.

EFFIE ANDERSON
Mannington

Effie's a typical W. V. U. girl,
With her every ready smile,
Her face is of the Grecian type,
Who's our friend for all the while.

PAUL HUGO SANBORN
Huntington

Young Mister Sanborn, blithe and fair,
With dreamy eyes and silken hair,
Some girls don't know him because he's shy.
But that's their loss you won't deny.

HELEN MISH
Bunker Hill

You'd be surprised, I think to know
What a lot this little girl can do.
But it's often one of Nature's bunglers,
She puts the best things in the smallest bundles.

WILLIAM SNEDEKER

Wheeling

Bill's strong for the ladies,
Has lots of good looks;
He's not too serious minded
And cares not too much for his looks.

NORMA HILL

Middlebourne

You have to hand it to one man
For taking her for a wife;
She'll make a dandy helpmate
The rest of his natural life.

JOHN FRUM

Rosemont

If John weren't such a good student
We'd say he had too many dates,
Yet he seems to have picked the best
And has beaten all the rest.

ELIZABETH CUDDY

Elkins

Her cheeks are so rosy and plump,
She's wonderful to behold.
She's shy yet full of fun,
And she's not the least bit cold.

WILLIAM F. KNODE
Fairview

Little Willie Nodie is a cute little kid,
He stands six feet without his lid,
If he studies real hard, in time it will come
He'll be better off than the ordinary bum.

DOROTHY KIMMEL
Grafton

When the college life is over,
And strife of life's begun,
Then this little girl will get married,
For two can live as cheap as one!

DAVID M. HAMMOND
Moundsville

Davy came here to learn Engineering,
But seems to have gotten mixed in his gearing;
For his schoolwork doesn't worry him a bit,
And his main ambition's to make a hit.

MARY REBECCA WERNINGER
Huntington

You'd never guess she is so wise
To look at her mischievous eyes,
But if the professors questions ask,
She's always equal to the task.

R. H. TWYMAN
Clarksburg

His folks sent him here to get an education
So that some day he might rule a nation,
But I fear he has frozen that dream so nice
For he went and married a girl named Lee.

C. J. RICHARDSON
Sistersville.

When Joe puts on his haughty stare,
His looks are simply killin',
So to the girls who fall for him—
Beware, he may be a villian.

IDA LIMRICK
Morgantown

Ida with her eyes sublime
Come, when quite, from a southern -line,
But, boys, she's wedded to her looks,
Despite those 'meet me later' looks.

LINNIE BRAND
Morgantown

To be an acquaintance of Linnie Brand
Is to have an experience grand,
She treats all her friends to her sweet smile
And seems to be happy all the while.

GRATTAN M. DOUGHERTY
Hinton

Pete's a quiet kind of man,
Not given to making a fuss.
But when he's gone from our midst,
'Twill certainly be a loss to us.

KATHERYN FLEMING
Grafton

A wee, small maiden is Carrie Kate,
She goes to school each day as the clock strikes eight,
Studies so hard the five long day;
When grades come around she gets her pay.

G. N. RIFFLE
McClellandtown, Pa.

In nature serene and with temper mild,
By the billows of fate he will never be tossed.
He will take out his pipe and open his can.
Could there be found a more reasonable man?

D. M. JOHNSTON
Keyser

'Fraid not of small rabbits,
Sweet, little guinea pigs, or pink teas,
Yet at the High School dances
He is most at his ease.

DON RODERICK DEWAR
Parkersburg

He sleep through all his classes
And goes out with the maids,
And that's why all his friends don't know
How he makes such excellent grades.

JEAN BILLINGSLEA
Fairmont

A better walking fashion plate you'll never find,
For her middle name is style;
Paul says she's just the Frenchy kind,
And she's that way all the while.

G. B. REEDER
Salem

The youngest of our class is he,
One of the brightest too.
As a mighty lawyer 'tis his aim
To bring old West Virginia fame.

KATHERINE SCOTT
Charleston

If Katherine had been a man
What an athlete she'd be;
But since it could not be so,
Of the weaker sex is she.

THOMAS M. KLUG
Proctor

Says Tommy Klug, quite irascible,
"I have the honor to state:
Epitaphs should be written only
By those who don't exaggerate."

MARGARITE PRICE
Marlinton

This little chatter box, so full of joy,
Seems like a real tomboy.
But how it comes that such as she Leads her classes is a mystery to me.

JOHN RAYMOND PRICE
Morgantown

When the Editor wanted someone he could blame
For writing foolish verses after each Junior's name,
He knew exactly where to call.
For isn't it a fact that Johnny knows them all?

HELEN BARNES
Morgantown

Helen works from morn to night,
Up in Chemistry lab.
She doesn't jump, hearing hydrogen bark
For she is the original Chemistry shark.

MAYME TWIFORD
West Union

When Mayme has graduated from college
She'll have a way of showing her knowledge;
She'll cross the country again and again,
Teaching the women how to rule the men.

CHARLES RUSSELL BICKEL
Parkersburg

Charles Russell Bickel, this is a name
Destined by its owner, to be covered with fame,
For whatever he chooses his work to be,
He'll be a winner, take it from me.

MARGARET ROGERS
Morgantown

Peggy's an adorable girl,
She's worth her weight in gold.
But if, perchance, she should get the flu,
Her medicine man would pull her thru.

LESTER OURS
Petersburg

Lester thought married life would be a new feature
So he went to Fairmont and got a school teacher,
And now thru the week he studies very hard
And on Sundays from Fairmont he cannot be barred.

CHARLES E. MOORE
Morgantown

This young man is not often seen,
Wasting his time at Shirley's "Canteen,"
Classes, never does he shirk;
The conclusion is, 'He's here to work.'

BERDA LYNCH
Clarksburg

Berda's a girl who just loves fun,
She's full of mischief, too,
She came to school to learn housekeeping,
She'll need it soon, that's true.

NOLIE PARRISH
Morgantown

A sweet, good-natured girl is she,
Beloved by all the teachers.
She doesn't care a bit for men,
They're just like other creatures.

FRED J. MCCOY
Sistersville

Fred studies Law, that's true,
And seems to get the hang;
But if he finds no work to do
He can boss a section gang.

RALPH J. STOKER
Morgantown

He studies so hard all the time
The girls don't have a chance,
But soon their day will come,
For Ralph is learning to dance.

VERNA WELLS
Morgantown

Verna was a chatter-box,
When first she came to school,
But one who wouldn't listen to her,
Would certainly be a fool.

JACK KLAU, A.B.
Fairmont

Jack came to us from a big Eastern college
His head chuck full of first rate knowledge.
To tickle the ivories is one of his pleasures;
And he writes sport dope between the measures.

RACHEL COOGLE
Morgantown

Like that Quaker down in Quaker town,
She knows a heap, I've found,
For she can 'Parlez-vous', and roll her eyes at you,
This little Coogle girl of Morgantown.

C. LEONARD LEWIS
Charleston

The coach said to Leonard, "Now first of all,
The bigger they are, the harder they fall."
So that is why, behind the line,
This big little man stops them every time.

MARY LARGENT
Paw Paw

Altho she doesn't like speaking
In a literary way,
She makes reports of conventions
And knows just what to say.

T. F. LOWRY
Paden City

Come, you dancers, if you want to Jazz,
Here's a saxophone player with lots of Razz
He knows English from beginning to end,
If you happen to meet him, he's a peach of a friend.

ELOISE CLARK
New Martinsville

As blithe and merry as a lark,
Is little Miss Eloise Clark.
When John makes a program for a dance,
No other has a chance.

MAUDE HARPER
Parsons

Of grace and charm, yet independence
This girl has quite a bit;
So do you wonder that with Feeb
She made such a decided hit.

W. CURTIS FISHER
Morgantown

Curtis is scarcely ever seen
With any of our lady friends;
But get him around an electric machine—
There's where his shyness ends.

CLARA DRAKE
Mannington

Clara is an industrious girl,
And a friend both true and kind;
She'll do just anything for you,
And never seems to mind.

J. R. McCLUNG
Dawson

When Jim Wrinkles his forehead and seems
In great pain, remember that shortly will Come an answer filled with thought not inane.
If he cannot answer, yet he will ask that which
Will into the gravy the most learned throw

VIRGINIA MCKINLEY
Morgantown

Light as a fairy is Virginia,
And fair and beautiful too;
She's always dated away ahead,
I don't blame the boys, do you?

ROBERT D. HARMAN
Riverton

Good Robert, brave Robert,
Always cheerful and glad;
A lad with such an infectious smile,
Couldn't possibly be bad.

BLANCHE BROADWATER
Belington

Blanche loves to be a gossip,
And talk of other's affairs;
But why shouldn't she do so,
For she has such a few cares.

PAUL H. SOMMER
Sutton

"Dutch" came to us when the class was new:
And as Sophomore leader saw us through,
Now as a Junior he stands in line
As the best Engineer of his time.

MAY JOLLIFFE
Morgantown

Mistress Mary, quite contrary,
Of late, has become sedate.
Her lessons now have become her pals,
Tho she doesn't object to a date.

HARRY MCGRAW
Follansbee

There are men who burn the midnight oil.
Whose ways are lined with toil.
And such is he, and it seems to me,
A Thetat Psi he'll, someday, be.

MERRIE STEWART
Morgantown

A second Sarah Barnhardt is she,
Reading pieces is her line;
When she dresses up in state costume,
She certainly looks fine.

GEORGE F. RANDALL
Shinnston

For this lad, who looks like a farmer's boy
Studying is only a baby's toy.
From morn to night he's at the library.
Some day he may write a dictionary.

LAURA MOONEY
Bluefield

Dres't in her sailor suits so neat and trim
Laura looks just like Polly Prim;
And though she's a midget, she's full of fun,
And has a laugh for everyone.

R. M. MOLER
Shenandoah Jet.

A youth of wit and kindly tact,
You'll never catch him napping.
All proffered news and information
Will be well verified before unwrapping.

ANGIE FRIEND
Morgantown

Angie's one you love to meet
And look into her eyes;
She looks so innocent and shy,
Yet she really is so wise.

LAWRENCE PADDEN
Wheeling

They say that Larry's a versatile man,
Ever ready with tongue or fist.
My gracious! What if he should be A raging Bolshevik.

MAE NEWMAN
Huntington

Mae Newman has a boy's ambition,
Yet she's ladylike all the while.
Physic's Lab. is her domain.
And she rules it with her smile.

PATRICK HENRY GARRETT
Mt. Hope

A man, big of soul, always
Ready with a guiding thought;
Wise in council, and able in execution,
One could have no better friend.

FRANCES FITZGERALD
Bluefield

A lady, gentle, sweet and kind. In Knowledge sure, all branches does she Pursue. Yet never a feminine Faustus
Will she become, I trow.

J. O. THEISS
Ravenswood

How pleasant it is to have known Mr. Theiss,
The joy of living is in his smile and voice,
Filled is his heart with kindly humor.
At each foible he sends his harmless darts
Which please but do not sting.

MERLE HARDESTY
Morgantown

This young lady is an artist,
Painting pictures all day long,
Her cares are nothing to her;
She drives them away with a song.

GEORGE CECIL WEIMER
Port Royal, Pa.

If a man will study so hard
And shun the cares that are;
He really deserves all he gets
And ought to be a star.

ANNA GRACE COCHRAN
Morgantown

As in days of old, when men were bold,
And ladies loved knights errant,
She's chosen a soldier for her own I'm told,
His name, dear friend, is Clarence.

DANIEL SAMUEL HATFIELD
Charleston

Dan'l Hatfield is this Med student's name
And he is well on his way to wealth and fame
His use of big words would make Webster scream
But we are willing to bet he doesn't know what they mean.

LYLE E. EVERHART

Keyser

This little boy, so quiet and meek
Studies so hard all day long.
He goes out dating only once a week
And never swears when things go wrong.

DOROTHY JONES

Belington

Little Dorothy, so awful saucy,
Has often the habit of being bossy.
Society was her lively pace,
Until she studied up a case.

ROGER CLAPHAM

Martinsburg

This great big Junior from Shepherdstown came
To W. V. U. where he is making his name,
He was elected President of the Junior Med.
Class,
And in his inaugural address he wasted no gas.

FLO HUFNER

Never in a hurry
But always busy, too,
She does a lot of things
For she has a lot to do.

FLOYD M. SAYRE

This young man went over the sea
To help make the world for democracy free;
But back to his classes when the job was finished
His ardor for study grown, not diminished,

IRENE BARNES Fairmont

Of all the University girls
This one deserves a look.
And that's the reason, so early in life,
She's one who's gonna be took.

WILLIAM E. NEFFLIN Keyser

W. E. Nefflin from Keyser Prep,
Came to West Virginia to gain a rep.
He's strong with the girls, his grades are big,
But in athletics he stays with the fraternity league.

O. F. HEDRICK Brushy Run

Hedrick's made himself famous
By managing this book.
If the President wants a good Comptroller
He won't have far to look.

KATHERINE BROWNING
Morgantown

Where'er you meet her, night or day,
She always has a lot to say.
She really doesn't mean any harm
For she used to be a country schoolmarm

LYNN MAPLE BRANNON
Weston

'Judge' is, one would say, tres populaire;
He prefers his studies very rare.
His real delight is to chase with Hayes,
And he'll be a bachelor to the end of his days.

MARY WILLIAMS
Moundsville

Little fair-haired Mary
Dances like a fairy.
Never cross a day,
Always with devoted Fay.

HOY J. WALLS
Morgantown

This young man, with wavy hair and handsome eyes,
Will be a bachelor till he dies.
His only care if life is E. E.
A telephone operator he'll someday be.

KATHLEEN FERGUSON
Huntington

You'll like her the minute you meet her,
You'll like her all your days;
To be a friend of this girl
Is something that really pays.

H. C. HESS
Mannington

A man of deeds,
Not words; we find
Alas, not many
Of his kind

C. A. LATHAM
Ravenswood

Chunk, our friend, whate'er we dub you,
And write about your name;
Your one best bet is M. R. W.,
We don't give you any blame.

VERDA McDONALD
Morgantown

Like all true blodded Irish,
She has a mother wit.
That's why, with our Freshmen,
She makes a decided hit.

H. S. BOREMAN
Middlebourne

Herb dresses like a fashion plate,
And dances like a dream,
And when he plays the piano
He certainly takes the cream.

MARIE MATHESON
Morgantown

She is always in a hurry,
For she has much French to do;
But she's always sure to do it,
In a way that's proper, too.

WILLIAM J. GRAY
Mt. Hope

Oh! what an enviable thing it is
A wonderful dancer to be,
For you gain the love of college maids
And your name goes down in history.

ELIZABETH MULLEN
Cumberland, Md.

VICTORIA MCGOVERN
Charleston

A maid who is demure and sweet,
With voice both soft and low;
Whose smile is worth a goodly treat,
Whose dress is always 'so.'

HENRY McCLAIN
Wheeling

When Henry gets to be a man
He'll do a lot, I know,
He'll get a little Morgantown girl,
And ask to be her regular beau.

FLORA FELTON
Davis

To stay in school is her delight,
And she strives so hard to learn,
Yet she will never in her life,
Be forced her living to earn.

P. D. McDONALD
Flemington

His looks say he is Irish,
While his name says he is Scotch;
But he's a good American
For he truly hated the Boche.

IRA ERRAT RODGERS
Bethany

On the gridiron "Rajah" made a hit;
As a "Shavetail" he did his bit.
In Chemistry he makes thing go,
He'll make some girl a peach of a beau.

MARGARET GRACE POWELL
Grafton

If she was Juliet and her Romeo,
Wished to serenade,
He'd have to climb six flights;
But it's worth it to see this maid.

BRADFORD NOYES
Charleston

This young fellow named Noyes
Is one of our overseas boys.
He's mighty good in his classes
But cares not for our lasses.

AGNES PRICE
Marlinton

Good work she does in quiet ways,
And still she could do more.
It's strange that of knowledge
Anyone should have such a store.

KAZUMA NAGANO
Tokio, Japan

Here, you will find, is a regular man,
His home's at Tokio, Japan.
On the Monticola Staff he holds a place
For at drawing pictures he's an "Ace."

ELMER W. PRINCE
Morgantown

Elmer cares not for our college girls,
His lady friends, all still wear curls.
He takes them riding in his big machine
And with people of his own age he's rarely seen.

EUNICE HUDSON
Millville, N. J.

I've often wondered how anyone
Could get so much work done;
But when I asked Eunice
She said 'twas nothing but fun.

JOHN E. PAYNE
Clarksburg

Let us credit Doc. Payne. In the Race of man, male and female created, new Divisions has he made, both exact and Explicit. To each group is given a name,
And in the new grouping must we all fall.
Surely this must be fame.

STERLING B. BATTOME
Moundsville

Tho' to star as a student is this lad's delight
And in Economics he's a shining light;
Yet he loves to trip the light fantastic toe
And to make the girls' hearts to flutter so.

SARAH A. REEVES
Morgantown

To masquerade as a man is Alta's real joy,
If she'd had her way she'd have been a boy.
But since it pleased Heaven to make her a She's resigned to her fate and become a real pearl.

DWIGHT VANGUILDER
Morgantown

When Pete was in the army,
They taught him how to fly,
And since he came back across the sea,
His ambitions reach the sky.

ELIZABETH S. HOGE
Morgantown

To serve at afternoon teas
Is such a part of her;
When she gets out in life,
She'll make a lot of stir.

THERESA SNAITH
Weston

Of Tessie the Meds are particularly proud
 For a lassie like she is seldom to be found;
 In choosing her profession she has made no mistake,
 And think what a wonderful doctor's wife she would make.

A. B. HARTMAN
Morgantown

Much does he know, and the things
 He does not will never be guessed;
 For on all can our Arlott talk
 Equally fast.

SARAH HUTCHINSON
Cameron

Sarah's a studious little lassie,
 Though her looks are really classy.
 She cares not for our boys,
 But kills all her joys.

FLOYD MORROW
West Alexander, Pa.

They say that this young Junior
 Is a student of fair renown.
 He leads a quiet, studious life,
 And on foolishness looks with a frown.

DURING the period of war, tended with sacrifices and heroism on the part of every patriot, West Virginia University gave to the fullest measure a devoted service to the nation, the state, and its alumni and students. The graduates and undergraduates who gave their services to the country, in many cases laid their lives on the altar of devotion, have made glory forever for our beloved school. The tie of love that bound them to their country, also bound them to their school and their classmates, and we shall always hold in reverence the memory of the brave men of West Virginia University who shall never return.

Since fighting has ceased, many of our classmates have returned to school, and are taking an active part in the reconstruction work to be done. School traditions are revived, college spirit renewed, fraternal love awakened, and better and happier days are assured for the future. Class rivalry exists as shown by the spirited contests in rushes, athletic games, and stunts, in which the Sophomores have been victorious a majority of the time. The student army training corps period is rapidly being forgotten in a newly established routine of real, regular, college fellowship. Sophomores are taking an active part in athletics, student activities, and devotion to school work. They are real boosters for the University.

ETHEL HESS.....	Secretary
ESTELLE RANDALL.....	Treasurer
TOM NALE.....	Inter-Class Council

N the twenty-third day of September in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and eighteen was a momentous event recorded in the history of West Virginia University. The people on the outside knew only that in numbers we excelled any other class that had ever enrolled in the University. They knew nothing of our possibilities.

The boys enjoyed the delight of being mustered in the S. A. T. C. Captain Stillman forbade such pleasant pass times as class rushes and fights. However in the second semester we robbed the Sophs of a victory. There was held in the Ark an inter-class meet which was enjoyed by everyone.

OFFICERS DANCE.

The president's house was the scene of a delightful dance on the evening of December thirteenth when the officers of the S. A. T. C. entertained with a farewell party before the demobilization of the corps. Twenty-two officers and their guests enjoyed the affair.

An orchestra of five pieces from the S. A. T. C. band furnished exceptionally good music and delicious refreshments were served by Comuntzis Brothers.

Dainty little packages wrapped in red, white and blue were presented to the ladies. They were found to contain handsome silver favors.

The patronesses for the evening were Mrs. Frank B. Trotter, Mrs. J. P. Stillman, Mrs. Harold Hodges, Mrs. Bradford Laidley and Mrs. Daisy Wood Beall.

S. A. T. C. DANCES.

Several very pleasant dances were given by the various companies of the Student Army Training Corps. An orchestra from the S. A. T. C. band furnishing good music. They were greatly enjoyed by all who attended them.

At the demobilization of the corps a most attractive regimental dance was given by the entire corps.

STUDENT GOVERNMENT TEA.

A Student Government tea was held Saturday afternoon, January first, at the Phi Kappa Psi house. Miss Flo Lantz, president of the association, acted as hostess. Mrs. Waitman Barbe and Miss Rebecca Pollack poured tea. The social hour was especially enjoyed as it gave the girls an opportunity to become acquainted.

GRANGE OPEN HOUSE.

The members of the University Grange, Number 372, held open house on Saturday evening, December seventh. The guests were members of the S. A. T. C. and University girls. The evening was spent in dancing and games. Miss Atkeson and Miss Sayer were chaperones.

PHI SIGMA KAPPA DANCE.

A very elaborate dance was given by the members of the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity Friday night, January eighteenth, at their home, 672 High Street.

The chapter house was tastefully decorated in the fraternity colors, magenta and silver gray. The entire lower floor was thrown open to the young people who spent the hours from eight until eleven thirty dancing to the delightful music furnished by Fousse's orchestra.

Each young lady was presented with a beautiful arm corsage of sweet peas and roses and the patronesses were given favors of similar bouquets. Punch was served throughout the evening, and during a short intermission at ten o'clock, an elaborate luncheon was served.

Patronesses for the evening were Mesdames Braden Allaman, Thomas Nale, Camden Garrison, and G. O. Brown of Buckhaunton.

ALPHA XI DELTA PARTY.

Thanksgiving evening the Alpha Xi Delta pledges gave a party at the home of Mrs. D. C. Garrison in honor of the "old girls." About fifty guests were received by Mrs. D. C. Garrisons, Mrs. Anna S. McKinley and Mrs. J. M. Johnston. The rooms were festooned and the lights shaded in double blue and gold, the chapter colors. The evening was past in dancing and card playing.

Y. M. C. A. DANCE.

A dance was given Friday evening, December fifth, for the members of the Vocational Section of The Student Army Training Corps, by the University Y. M. C. A. under the direction of Mr. John C. Hupp and Mrs. J. H. Patterson. The affair was held in the Knights of Pythias Hall. Thirty couples were present and the music was furnished by members of the S. A. T. C. band.

The patronesses were Mrs. T. B. Stillman, Mrs. Joe Jans, Mrs. Harvy Fisher, Mrs. George Rogers, Mrs. R. S. Dodson, Mrs. Browning and Mrs. J. H. Patterson.

CHI OMEGA TEA.

The members of the Chi Omega Sorority entertained Saturday afternoon, February first, at their chapter house on High Street with a very delightful tea.

The hours were from three until five o'clock and guests for the afternoon included alumni, patronesses, and friends of the chapter. A very pleasant time was spent by the guests enjoying the hospitality of the hostesses.

PI BETA PHI RECEPTION.

The members of the Pi Beta Phi Sorority were hostesses to about one hundred-twenty-five guests Saturday night, February first at their chapter house at 94 Beverly Avenue. The home was tastefully decorated in green and red carnations, each guest being presented with a red carnation—the chapter flower—as a favor.

The hours from eight until eleven thirty, were spent most pleasantly, and dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Guests of the evening included the faculty of the University, members of the local fraternities and friends of the chapter.

SIGMA CHI DINNER DANCE.

The members of the Sigma Chi Fraternity were hosts at a dinner dance of beautiful appointments, Saturday evening, February first, at their chapter house on North High Street. The home was beautifully decorated in potted plants, banners and streamers of Old Gold and Blue, the chapter colors.

At six o'clock the guests were invited to the dining room where an elaborate five course dinner was served.

Following the dinner all were invited to the dance hall where the hours from eight until eleven thirty were spent most pleasantly dancing.

The patronesses of the evening were Mrs. Boaz B. Cox and Mrs. Harold Hodges.

KAPPA SIGMA DANCE.

Gamama Phi Chapter of Kappa Sigma entertained Saturday evening, February twenty-second, at the chapter house on South High Street. At six thirty the guests were invited to the dining room where a three course dinner was served.

At eight o'clock dancing began and continued until half past eleven. Punch was served throughout the evening and at the close of the dance pink rose buds were given as favors.

The patronesses of the evening were Mrs. Harold Hodges and Mrs. Royall Kessel.

KAPPA ALPHA DANCE.

The Kappa Alpha Fraternity entertained Friday evening, March seventh, with an informal dance at their chapter house on North High Street. Dancing began at eight o'clock and continued until half past eleven. The music was furnished by Fousse's orchestra. Dainty refreshments were served during the evening.

The chaperons were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Baker and Mrs. Leroy Taylor.

HOME ECONOMICS CLUB PARTY.

The Home Economics Club had a very enjoyable "childrens" party Monday night, March tenth, at the home of Miss Valerie Schultz in South Park.

The evening was spent in playing "drop the handkerchief," "ring around rosy" and in dancing. Forty-nine "children" were present at the party.

KAPPA KAPPA GAMMA TEA.

A very delightful tea was given by the members of the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority Tuesday afternoon, February twenty-fifth, at their chapter house on High Street.

The house was beautifully decorated with greens and vases and sweet peas, roses and fleur-de-lis, the chapter flower. Mrs. Geo. C. Baker, Mrs. Roy Smith and Mrs. Bert Holmes Hite presided at the tea and coffee urns. The floral idea was carried farther in the refreshments. Unusually attractive small baskets in many unique shapes and filled with mints were given as favors.

One hundred and fifty guests were entertained during the afternoon, including university students, alumnae of the chapter and friends of the sorority.

STUDENT MIX.

A student mix was held in the armory Friday evening, February twenty-eighth. The evening opened with a grand march led by President Trotter and Miss Mary Meek Atkeson. Following the march speeches were made by Ex-President Hodges and by President Trotter. Various other attractions afforded much pleasure during the evening. Refreshments of sandwiches and coffee were served to about five hundred people, including members of the faculty and student body.

PAN-HELLENIC DANCES.

The Pan-Hellenic dances this year have been especially happy affairs to all who have attended them. Although they have been fewer in number than in former years, since none were given until after the demobilization of the S. A. T. C., yet they have been among the most enjoyable features of the social life of the University. The committee in charge of the dances consisted of Lawrence C. Padden, Russell B. Bailey and Donald Dewey.

SIGMA NU DANCE.

The members of the Gamma Pi Chapter of Sigma Nu were hosts at an elaborate dance of beautiful appointments, given in the armory, Friday night, April eleventh. The hall was attractively decorated in streamers of the chapter colors, black, white and old gold.

A most delightful time was spent by the dancers from eight until eleven thirty o'clock. A special feature of the evening was the "Sigma Nu extra," when the only illumination in the hall was the soft golden glow from a large fraternity badge in the center of the hall. The music was furnished by Fousse's orchestra.

Following the dance the guests were invited to Communtzis where an elaborate luncheon was served.

Patronesses for the evening were Miss Susan Maxwell Moore, Mrs.

W. E. Glascock, Mrs. Anna McKinley, Mrs. E. W. McNeill, Mrs. J. N. Simpson, Mrs. George Rogers, Mrs. J. H. Patterson and Mrs. Campbell Garrison.

SKULL AND KEYS DANCE.

On Friday evening, April fourth, the Skull and Key Society entertained with its fourth annual dance at the armory. The hall was beautifully and artistically decorated in streamers of green and black in keeping with the Skull and Key colors. A program of eighteen regular dances and two extras was finished at one o'clock. Exceptionally good music was furnished by Parker's orchestra of Columbus. During the evening punch and sandwiches were served.

CHI OMEGA DANCE.

On Friday evening, April twenty-fifth, Theta Chapter of Chi Omega entertained with a beautiful dance at the armory. The hall was artistically decorated with the fraternity colors, cardinal and straw. Wild flowers were banked in the windows and palms and ferns were clustered in the corners.

The dancing program consisted of sixteen regular dances and two extras, the first extra being a Chi Omega special—a medley of Chi Omega songs. The music was furnished by Ihle's orchestra of Keyser.

The receiving line was composed of Eloise Clark and Stella Lewis, representing the fraternity; Mrs. Trotter, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Cox, Dr. Barbe, Mrs. Friend Clark, Mrs. Layman and Mrs. Glascock.

Many out of town alumnae, and guests and representatives of other fraternities were present.

ALPHA XI DELTA DANCE.

One of the most attractive dances of the season was the dance at the armory Friday night, May second, given by the Iota Chapter of Alpha Xi Delta.

The large hall presented a most attractive appearance with its decorations of Mountain Laurel, ferns and other greens. Streamers of the chapter colors, dark blue, light blue and old gold, were suspended gracefully from the ceiling. A unique feature of the decorating scheme the pergola formed in the chapter colors upon which the Jazz orchestra from Clarksburg was seated and furnished the music for the evening.

Twelve regular dances and three extras made up the dancing program. At eleven o'clock a delicious luncheon was served by the Boston Confectionary.

Patronesses for the evening were Mrs. Anna S. McKinley, Miss Susan Maxwell Moore, Mrs. Frank Butler Trotter, Mrs. John L. Hatfield, Mrs. John L. Sheldon, Mrs. F. L. Emory, Mrs. George Wood, Mrs. D. C. Garrison, Mrs. John N. Simpson and Mrs. Rachel Colwell.

The Crucible

The purpose of this society is to promote interest in the various branches of chemistry and chemical industry, and to train the members in scientific discussion. Those eligible for membership are Juniors and Seniors whose major subject is chemistry, medical students and students in the College of Agriculture whose major subject is soils and one Sophomore having chemistry for his major subject and who has maintained the highest scholastic standing during the first three semesters of his course. Both scholarship and personality are considered in the election of the members.

The Laurel

A Senior Honorary Society

Founded at West Virginia University, April 2, 1919

The purpose of The Laurel is to encourage and recognize leadership in student activities among the women of West Virginia University. In the spring of each year such Junior women as have become eligible by activity in student affairs will be chosen to membership. The organization will strive to promote movements for the best interests of the State and for general student life at West Virginia University.

BASKETBALL

Once again did Coach Mulleneix rise to the occasion and develop a basket ball team that reflected credit upon West Virginia University. Altho things were rather late in getting started, once the plans were formulated everything was developed at such a speed that a championship team was developed by the time the schedule was under way.

The season's schedule was the most extensive ever undertaken by a mountainer five and altho the number of defeats equaled the number of victories, yet the season is considered a success by the supporters of the Old Gold and Blue.

In undertaking the heavy schedule it was hoped that some of the biggest college teams would be met and that a good brand of basket ball would be offered the fans of the University. Such teams as the University of Pittsburg, Cornell, Syracuse, Allegheny, and Washington and Jefferson were played along with other strong teams.

Under the leadership of Acting-Captain Dawson the Varsity five came out victorious in many of the contests and altho the last half of the schedule was not as successful as the first, yet almost every one of the defeats suffered were games in which the final score separated the teams by but one or two points.

Probably the most bitterly fought contest of the season was the one staged with the Pitt five on the local floor. Early in the season the Mountaineers had no difficulty in defeating the Panther aggregation but in the game that was played on the "Ark" floor the Pitt team immerged victors by a three point lead. Throughout this contest the score was about tied and in the last two minutes of play the game was lost.

Captain-Elect Homer Martin lead the team in individual scoring. He participated in every one of the sixteen games and tossed in 134 fouls in 220 attempts, an average of 61 per cent. Martin made at least one field goal in every game. Behen followed Martin closely in the matter of field goals, securing 61 in the 141½ games in which he played. Kiger, Dawson, Hill, Parker, Fisher, and Pittsford followed in the order named in the matter of scoring.

All in all the basket ball season was a success notwithstanding the number of defeats suffered. West Virginia scored more points than her opponents and would have won more of the contests played if it had not been for some hard breaks that were thrust upon her.

West Virginia enthusiasts were considerably disappointed because of there not being a Varsity Gridiron eleven last fall. But owing to war conditions it was found inexpedient to carry out a regular schedule. Altho informal practice was called and many candidates responded, a team failed to be developed because of the influenza epidemic that set in soon after the first practice.

Plans for the coming year are however extremely bright.

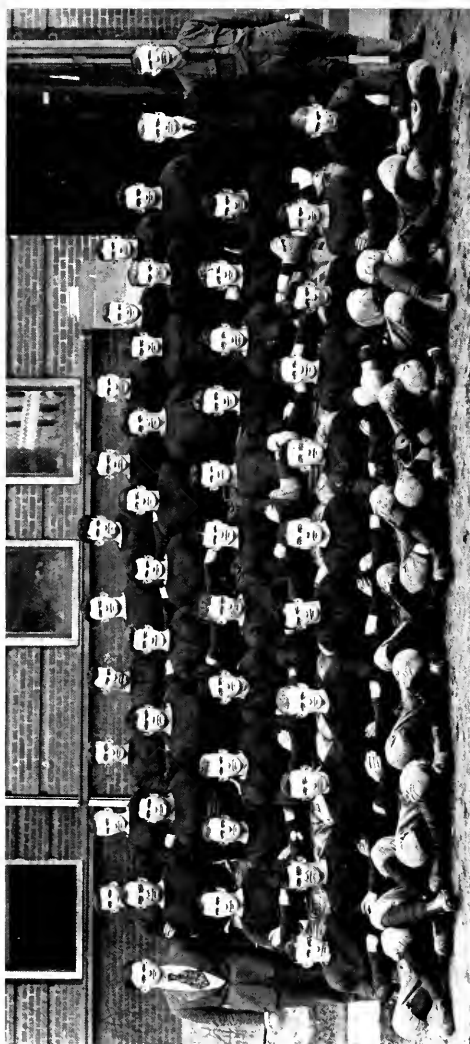

M. McIntire, who has coached the football team for the last five years, has signed a new contract with the athletic authorities and will have two good assistants. Prospects for a good team are also bright as Rodgers, Bailey, King, Hutchinson, Hager, Webster and Harriek will be back as well as newer men such as McCue, Meredith, Martin, and Allman.

The schedule will contain contests with the University of Pittsburg, collegiate champions for the last three years, Princeton, Rutgers, and W. & J. The complete schedule follows:

COACH MCINTIRE

- Sept. 27—Marietta College at Morgantown
- Oct. 4—Westminster at Morgantown.
- Oct. 11—University of Pittsburg at Pittsburg.
- Oct. 18—University of Maryland at Morgantown.

Fourteen wins out of eighteen games played was the record of the 1918 baseball team constituting one of the most successful seasons that the University has ever enjoyed in this sport. The team started off with seven straight victories and then hit a slump in its victories at the end of its Eastern trip but finished up the season in admirable shape.

The season of 1919 promises to be even more successful as Coach Shelton has returned from overseas and has taken charge of the squad. With his keen insight into inside baseball, his ability to command the highest respect of the players, together with the excellent material at his disposal, will make him able to turn out a winning team.

"Rajah" Rodgers is the new captain of the team. He is conceded to be one of the best college players in the country and his fight and "pep" keep him in the game to win at all times. His presence as captain will instill the proper ginger and scrap into his men, which qualities in a baseball pilot are so essential to a winning aggregation.

Many members of last years squad are available for the team this year. Latterner will be out for a position on the mound. Captain Rodgers will hold down the short stop station while Armstrong will be set for his old job at second base. Other men from last year's squad who will be out for the team are: Dawson, Harrick, Dorsey and Carden.

RODGERS

The initial honor of being the first man at the University to attain the captaincy in all major sports has been conferred upon Errat "Rajah" Rodgers. As fullback on the football team Rodgers has proven himself to be one of the best men that ever donned an Old Gold and Blue uniform. His work as guard on the basket ball team is of the highest quality, and he will always be remembered for his efficient work at the short-stop position on the baseball diamond. He is one of the most conscientious as well as modest workers in the school, and the honor bestowed upon him is a proper and deserving one.

VARSITY GIRLS' BASKETBALL

Under the able guidance of Manager Dorothy Crane, the initial step toward the permanent foundation of a girls' basketball team has been attained at the University. Four games were played during the past season and each resulted in a victory. Amy Moore acted as captain of the team.

Most of the girls on the team will return to school next year. Captain Moore, who was the regular center and played a fast game, will be back to organize the team. The regular forwards, Ruth Hefner and Grace Fair, are members of the Freshman Class as is Elizabeth Pratt. Other players who will be available are: Thea Vickers, guard; Majorie Hood, running center; Frances Stealey and Helen Hefner. The only member of the team lost through graduation is Clara Walker, guard, of the Class of 1919.

With these favorable prospects for the coming year, a successful team should be in the field and an attractive schedule arranged.

College Songs

HAIL WEST VIRGINIA.

Let's give a rah for West Virginia
And let's pledge to her anew,
Others may like Black and Crimson
But for us it's Gold and Blue.
Let all our troubles be forgotten,
Let College spirit rule
We'll join and give our loyal efforts
For the good of our old school

Chorus

It's West Virginia, it's West Virginia,
The pride of every mountaineer,
Come on you old grads, join with us young lads,
It's West Virginia now we cheer;
Now is the time boys to make a big noise
No matter what the people say,
For there is naught to fear, the gang's all here,
So hail to West Virginia, hail.
(Repeat Chorus)

OLD GOLD AND BLUE

In the hills of West Virginia,
Where the Monongahela flows,
Stands our noble shrine of learning
'Mid the laurel and the rose,
Thru' the four long years of college,
We stand as firm and true,
Our hearts are ever loyal,
To the dear Old Gold and Blue.

Chorus

Three cheers for West Virginia,
Rah, Rah, Rah,
Hail to the old Gold and Blue,
Cheer for our Alma Mater
Rah, Rah, Rah,
Always, be loyal staunch and true,
Fight for her fame and prestige
Rah, Rah, Rah,
Ever her name in view,
How can we leave Thee,
Old Gold and Blue.

When our college days are over,
And we're on life's weary way,
When our fondest dreams forsake us
And our hopes have gone astray,
Still a song of our Alma Mater,
Will thrill us thru and thru,
And bring back happy mem'ries,
Of the dear Old Gold and Blue.

Calendar

SEPTEMBER.

Monday 23. Annual inundation begins—inundators mostly Freshmen. Conflicting emotions visible on all faces. Who knows what will happen next?

Tuesday 24. Was ever such a throng seen in Old Woodburn? Faces mostly strange. Goodness, how many boys! The girls beam hopefully upon them.

Wednesday 25. The Old Guard comes straggling in, to find the college overrun by heathen hordes. Rooms very, very scarce. Townspeople open their homes to lodgingless students.

Thursday 26. Classes as usual. And yet, what a difference, for whereas of yore the boys were few, now there are none at all. Soldiers, soldiers everywhere, and not a man in class. They're all digging trenches.

Friday 27. French classes do a rushing business. "Don't say it can't be done—they're doing it at West Virginia." Doing what? Drill, in all its various and horrible forms. There's no more loafing for the S. A. T. C. Sad fate!

Monday 30. The novelty is beginning to wear off. The S. A. T. C. isn't half so romantic as was expected. Some of the boys aren't feeling very well.

OCTOBER.

Tuesday 1. Sherman certainly knew what he was talking about.

Wednesday 2. More of the boys are losing their pep. Military life seems bad for the health.

Thursday 3. A number of cases of the "flu." Nothing serious.

Friday 4. Rumors of enforced vacation, but that is too good to be true. No it isn't, either. Captain Stillman and President Trotter, after a conference with the town authorities, dismiss school for a week or two, until the influenza situation improves.

NOVEMBER.

Monday 4. Hello, did you have the "flu," too?

Tuesday 5. Some of the professors actually expected us to have our lessons after a month's vacation. Vain hope!

Wednesday 6. Announcement is made that West Virginia will have no football team this year. Grid-iron enthusiasts go around with long faces.

Thursday 7. The Athenaeum Board is organized. Most notable feature, its femininity.

Friday 8. The Freshman girls blossom forth in old gold and blue caps. The War Department won't stand for such foolishness for the boys, so the girls are martyrs to the cause of Tradition.

Monday 11. Hurrah, the war is over. And just think, we have to go to school the live-long morning. We all march in the parade in the afternoon.

Tuesday 12. It seems pretty tame after yesterday. No let-up in the S. A. T. C. First Athenaeum goes to press.

Wednesday 13. What? No chapel? How Communtzis' will suffer. Rachel Berry succeeds Gretchen Fries as Vice-President of Student Government.

Thursday 14. What's the use of all this drilling and manoeuvring, anyway? The war's over, isn't it? English Club meets and elects officers for year.

Friday 15. War Work Drive doesn't come up to specifications. Some people don't realize that there is more to war than fighting.

Monday 18. Everybody is speculating on the eventual fate of the S. A. T. C.

Tuesday 19. Plans for Hostess House well under way. Sororities offer the use of their parlors for entertaining soldiers' guests.

Wednesday 20. A few of the many men who were transferred to Officers Training Camps begin to find their way back. Grange elects officers.

Thursday 21. Senior class election. Latterner succeeds Kyle as President.

Friday 22. Mrs. Chez lectures in Masonic Temple on "Arc and the World in Wartimes." Virginia Brown entertains the Kappa children.

Saturday 23. Company Three defeats Company Two at football, 7-0.

Monday 25. The boys, poor fellows, are completely disgusted with army discipline. The girls feel the same way about school. By all odds, the the most unsatisfactory year ever.

Tuesday 26. A telegram from Washington brings the glad news that the S. A. T. C. is to be disbanded between the dates of December 4 and December 20. Great enthusiasm.

Wednesday 27. Memorial building for West Virginia Dead proposed by the Hon. O. S. McKinney of Fairmont.

Thursday 28. We are thankful for a holiday, also for a football game. Section A wins from Section B. Score 26-0.

Friday 29. Pan-Hellenic Association formed. Naval Unit defeats High School team, 27-24.

DECEMBER.

Monday 2. Y. M. C. A. dance for vocational men held in Knights of Pythias Hall.

Tuesday 3. City Pan-Hellenic Club formed to assist college Pan-Hellenic. Dr. Broomfield addresses S. A. T. C.

Wednesday 4. Max Donner arrives to succeed Miss Margaret Horne as instructor in violin.

HOSPITALITY.

The Iotu Betehtu Two were entertaining the new pledges.

"Mr. Arthur, do have some more ice cream."

"Well thanks, but just a mouthful please."

"Waiter, fill Mr. Arthur's plate."

TWO IN ONE.

Skeeter Hall—"What's the matter with using that phrase in my composition?"

Fred McCoy—"Trite."

Skeeter—"I did, but Prof. Cox wouldn't stand for it."

Hungary sends a female ambassador to Berlin, being the first country to adopt Pres. Wilson's suggestion for an end of diplomatic secrets.

That rustling sound you hear is the turning over of new leaves. By the way, a new leaf after being turned over should be pasted down firmly. It has been known to fly back.

Horace—"I'd like to take you to the theater tonight, but the seats wouldn't be comfortable."

Ione—"What makes you think so?"

Horace—"The government has put tax on them."

Chess—"Had a big fight at the house last night."

Jo—"How's that?"

Chess—"The door swung on the hinges."

Judge B.—"You know Prod. has gone to N. Y. to study Agriculture."

Jim S.—"No, has he?"

Judge—"Yes, he is taking a course in winter gardening."

AT QUARANTINE.

Dr. Simpson—"Have you any sears?"

Doe, Showalter—"No sir, but I have some cigarettes in my coat over there."

SAFETY FIRST.

Prof. Higby—"And now, gentlemen, please leave all the books at the desk, take alternate seats in alternate rows, and remember this examination is conducted under the honor system."

McClure—"Did you ever read 'Looking Backwards?'"

Shorty S.—"Yes, once in an exam and I was suspended."

"Why did the salt shaker?"

"Because he saw the spoon holder."

NE PLUS ULTRA.

Mauzy—"Sir, what is meant by Freedom of the Seas?"

Prof. Callahan (drawing out his watch)—"Well, it's getting rather late, class excused."

Sunday School Teacher—"And after the multitude of 5000 were fed who picked up all those great baskets full of crumbs?"

Small Enthusiast—"Mr. Hoover."

Her new acquaintance—"I think Gladys's new hat is a duck."

Her best friend—"It has to be, the poor girl has water on the brain."

Perhaps some may think

Clara D.—“They are painting the German subs to look like jokes.”

Elizabeth—“Why?”

Clara—“So the English can't see them.”

Paul—“My mother wouldn't like it if she knew I were dancing. She thinks it sinful.”

Jean—“Don't worry, she wouldn't know it even if she saw you.”

IN CHEMISTRY.

Jim F.—“Did you get the third problem?”

Dave—“No.”

Jim—“How near were you to the right answer?”

Dave (thinking)—“Five seats away.”

Otis S.—“I don't see how Rodg passes his work so well.”

McDaniels—“Probably learned the passing game in foot-ball.”

Irene—“I thot I asked you not to drink any more of that punch and I see you drinking just as much as ever.”

Hod.—“Well, that isn't any more, is it?”

He—“Did you like the minister's lecture on alcohol?”

She—“Oh, it was splendid. He seemed so full of his subject.”

Beany—“I'm taking a course in mathematics on Monday afternoons.”

Rural S.—“Where?”

Economies.

Prof. Vickers—“What's the difference between capital and labor?”

George R.—“If I had to work and turn three-fourths of my wages over to you, that would be labor.”

Prof. V.—“Yes.”

George R.—“On the other hand, if you had to work, and turn three-fourths of your wages over to me, that would be capital.”

Senior—“Have you kept up with your studies?”

Fresh—“Yes, but I haven't passed them.”

A FORTUNATE GIRL.

"My sister Maggie is awfully lucky?"

"Why?"

"She went to a party last night where they played a game in which you either had to kiss a girl or pay a forfeit of a thrift stamp."

"Well how was Maggie lucky?"

"She came home with two books of thrift stamps."

Mary W.—Comes from the phone singing, "I love you truly."

IN THE TIMES OF THE S. A. T. C.

Mary S.—"Are you going to fatigue this evening? (Meaning Retreat.)"

Jean—"Say Ef., whom do you have a date with this evening, music, drawing or what?"

Ef. (in very affected tone)—"Why art."

Prof. Black—"Miss Bunce will sing 'After You're Gone.'"

Russ—"Thank the Lord."

LOVE LORN' ? ?

I stood on the bridge at midnight,
In the white moon's silvery glare.

When some poor fool took the bridge away,
And left me standing there.

THE SUPER—superlative.

Charlotte—"Now, honey, if you love me, call me something dear."

Charles—"My great big lump of coal."

Talbott (bitterly)—"You don't care for me."

Dorothy (coldly)—"No—what you need is someone to take care of you."

Prof. Ray—

"I vant some taleum powder,"

"Mennens"

"Nein, vimmenes."

A DAINTY BUTTERFLY.

Gates of Heaven with St. Peter and pretty girl in airy clothes (girl, not St. Peter.)

St. Peter—"How did you ever get up here?"

Ex-chorus girl—"Flu."

"Father, what is the Knight of the Bath?"

"Saturday, my son."

Prof.—"What can you tell me about the Ethiopian race?"

Fred S.—"I didn't see it, sir, I went to the basket ball game."

THERE ARE BIRDS AND BIRDS.

Beatrice—"I was taken into dinner by that officer you introduced me to. He was quite gallant and remarked upon my bird like appetite."

Mary R.—"Well, he should be a good judge on that point, dear; he runs an ostrich farm in South America."

Bee Hall (with much dignity)—"Girls, how can we have more quiet in this house?"

Pert Young Freshmen—"Why, by having less noise (Noyes)."

Margaret Thomas was heard to exclaim in ecstasy,

"Oh, Errat! Errat!"

Dense House Mother—"Well, Margaret, don't you know that there are no rats in this house?"

Don Dewar is sorry he did not go in the aviation during the war, since he enjoys his six flights up every day.

Alpha Xi Deltas are great bird lovers, but the Bob White and the Martin seem to be the favorite species.

IN TRAINING.

"Jack, I wish you'd give that young brother of mine a talking to.

It's time he thought of choosing a career."

"Judging by the hours he keeps I thought he was studying to be a night watchman."

“MEMORIES, MEMORIES.”

“I see they are making shingles out of cement now.”

“Then I recall my wish to be a boy again.”

Co-ed (entering the Zoology laboratories).

“Why, Dr. Reese, I didn’t know this was such a nice place.”

Dr. Reese—“Oh, yes, we have lots of kinds of animals up here.”

Co-ed (looking into a class room filled with boys)—“Oh, I see.”

MUST BE A COLD.

“What’s the matter, old chap, you look sick?”

“I am. Got a cold or sumpin in mah head.”

“Oh, it must be a cold. Couldn’t be anything else.”

Victoria—“Is Blanche taking much English work this year?”

Grace—“A great deal. She is specializing in ‘Browning.’”

PROFESSIONAL EFFORTS.

Boreman—“He’s a young lawyer and desperately in love.”

Lass,—“Yes, he enters an appearance at the girl’s home three nights a week, pleads his case, receives an adverse decision and then appeals again.”

UNATTAINABLE.

Lo two things earth have shown me not,

Though I am seeking still

A fountain that will not blot

And a blotter that will.

Poor little Georgie Washington. The school that he went to never had a holiday on the twenty-second of February.

Friend Indeed—“Did you send flowers to his funeral?”

“No, I sent a fire extinguisher.”

War Cries: French—Allons, mes enfant, le jouer de gloire est arrive.

British—Over the bloomen top, and give the blimpin blighters what for.

American—Attaboy.

His Fear—"Henpeck has refused to join the Home Defense Guards."

"How unpatriotic."

"Oh no, he is afraid his wife will insist on making his uniform."

Jones was telling a friend about a quarrel between two stubborn men which he illustrated by saying

"And you know what happens when Greek meets Greek."

"Yes," replied his friend, "mostly likely they open a confectionary store."

IN CHEMISTRY.

Now I sit me down in class to sleep.

I hope my chum my notes will keep.

If I should snore before I wake,

So poke my ribs for pity sake.

Same Old Line: Virginia McK.—"Oh, I wish the Lord had made me a man."

Bob. H.—"He did. I'm the man."

Soto Speaks—"It was a deathbed scene, but the director was not satisfied with the hero's acting."

"Come on," he cried, "put more life in your dying."

CAMOUFLAGE.

If you see a complexion that's peaches and cream,

Remember things aren't always just what they seem.

Just take a good look and come out of your dream.

It's camouflage.

Just So—"Why have words, Pa?"

"To make the language grow, my child."

"My son," said old man Ridder. "Take this advice from me. The less you use your credit, the better it will be."

I have heard that Irene has stuffed one of her cushions with her love letters. Pretty soft. What?

A colored sentinel challenged another colored soldier who seemed to be carrying something inside the lines.

"Who goes there?" he asked.

"Lieutenant with a jug of gin," was the answer.

"Pass Lieutenant! Halt gin!" commanded the sentry.

Annie (Kappa Sig. cook)—"Mistah Dewar, some lady wanted to talk to you over the telephone, and said fo' you to call.

Dewar—"Alright, Annie, who was it?"

Annie—"I dunno, Mistah Dewar, some lady up to the Carnegie house."

A flea and a fly were discussing the flu wondering each of them what they should do. Said the flea,

Let us fly."

Said the fly, "Let us flee." So they flew thru a flaw in the flue.

Mary S.—"I think it funny that I made only seventy-eight in Bacteriology. Why a couple of my papers were handed back marked with a double A, "AA."

Helen P.—"Why how is that?"

Mary S.—"Well I thought that 'AA' meant higher yet than 'A.'"

Helen P.—"Why don't you know 'AA' are Dr. Arkins initials?"

The Duck—"Why are you crying so, you little chicken?"

The Little Chicken—"O, dear, I have just heard that my old mother was stewed last night."

The Bad Bold Man—"Why don't you sit on my knee?"

The Shy Young Thing—"Because my mother told me to stay away from joints."

Betty—"Long engagements are not fashionable these days."

Kathlene—"Oh well, neither are long marriages."

Amy—"Yes, I will be yours on one condition."

Lefty—"Oh that's all right. I entered my Junior year with seven.

"Did you see those autos, kid?"

"Sir! How dare you call me that?"

He kissed her rosy lips,
Just kissed them in a frolic.
Ah, 'twas a dear, dear kiss
For he died of painters colic.

Forewarned: Mother—"Young man, don't ever let me catch you kissing my daughter."

Young Man—"No ma'am, I won't."

Hardy—"I am going out to see a swell Jane this evening."

Cottle—"Couldn't you dig up one for me?"

Hardy—"Wouldn't you just as soon have a live one?"

Ruth—"Hazel, how tall is Jim?"

Hazel (thinking)—"Either five foot-six or six foot-five, I just forget

McGinnis—"What's your motto, Doctor?"

Dr. Simpson—"Have patience."

"Oh I got a horrible shock yesterday."

"How come, honey, how come?"

"Why I was eating a piece of fruit cake and a big current passed right thru my mouth."

Simplicity—"Is the light out in the hall?"

Dullness—"Yes, shall I leave it burning?"

The Devil sends the wicked wind

To raise the skirts knee high.

But Heaven is just

And sends the dust

To close the bad man's eye.

Officer—"Your honor, I found this man yesterday afternoon in broad daylight leaning against a lamp post, sound asleep."

His Honor—"Six months for impersonating an officer! Next!"

Daughter—"Father, our Domestic Science professor is teaching us how to spend money."

Parent( interrupting)—"Why doesn't he teach fish how to swim?"

Estelle—"The Fi Batar Cappar Hall must have looked nice the night of their dance."

Jimmie L.—"Why?"

Estelle—"Well the paper said the hall was decorated with "Four Roses."

Clark—"Think I'm going to like the science course."

Cabel—"What makes you think so?"

Clark—"Well, the professor said we were going to work on Fauna this week and then shift to Flora."

Cabel—"Uh-huh, who's Flora?"

The following note was found in the Y. M. C. A. rooms:
Dear Friend,

I am playing pool with Jack Hare. Will return in a few hours.

Affectionately,

Y. M. C. A. Secretary.

QUESTION.

Why are the Phi Kaps and the Sigma Nu's such good friends?

No man ever got indigestion from swallowing his pride.

She (accepting a bunch of flowers that he has carefully arranged)—
"What a lovely undertaker you would make."

"I understand, young man, Bradley was quite a dude before he was married."

"He was. Now he is subdued."

THE S. A. T. C.

My little son climbed upon my knee,

And with up-turned face, he said to me—

"Daddy, where were you in the great, great war,

In the cavalry, artillery, or the signal corps?"

I said, "Listen, my son, and you shall hear,

Of the struggles, the hardships, toil, and fear,

Of those terrible days when death was near,

In the—S. A. T. C.

We made our beds of straw and hay,
And we labored hard all the livelong day,
But when we complained, the Captain would say,

Sergeant Smith; a Character Sketch

Sergeant Smith was a "hard-boiled" old army sergeant, and of all the hard-boiled ones, he was boiled hardest. He had been in the army ever since the Spanish War, and had seen service in both hemispheres. The tropical sun had made him a fit subject for the term "leather neck" so often applied to "old army men." To see his little piggish eyes peer out from under a broad-brimmed campaign hat, one might easily imagine he could feel the dazzling equatorial sunlight that made them squint so.

He must have enjoyed the army life; it must have suited his constitution to a T, for he had developed a degree of rotundity at the belt seldom equalled, and perhaps never surpassed, by an "old army man." When Sergeant Smith marched with the company, his corpulent body rolled from side to side in a way that must have taxed his short, stumpy legs severely. Perhaps this apparent inability to perform long "hikes" had had its influence in placing Smith at a historical old Coast Artillery fort, where long "hikes" were never required. Some recruits who knew Smith better than I, stated that he had been "busted" several times because of his association with "Old John Barleycorn." I never entertained the least doubt for this assertion; Smith's appearance gave me no reason to doubt it.

It fell to the lot of Sergeant Smith to drill the recruits, and I believe he took a secret delight in doing so, in spite of the fact that he hated recruits as fervently as any "old army man" ever hated them. The way he looked at us recruits when we made a false move, and the tone in which he addressed his invectives to his intimidated detail, told us plainer than he could have told us with words that he hated a recruit worse than he hated a rattlesnake, a scorpion, or a tarantula. Of course, the recruits bore much the same feeling toward Smith, but their position prevented them from giving vent to their feelings until they were permitted to return to quarters, and then their complaining among themselves was short-lived, made so by the proximity of "chow."

It was, to a certain extent, amusing to watch Sergeant Smith drill recruits. In marching us across the parade ground, he would halt us a dozen times, and if one recruit would take one step too many he would blatantly shout, "Quit that crow-hoppin' in line, there—By Gawd! (This was one of Smith's favorite bywords, and he would sing it out with an expressiveness I have never heard equalled.) How much longer are you gonna keep that up?" And then the whole detail would be entertained by one of his lectures, in which he would threaten us with all the punishments meted out for military offenses, except death.

One day the recruits "got even," or thought they got even, with

Smith. It was on a hot, sunny day in late July. The previous day several of us had received our first inoculation. The rules of the hospital allow forty-eight hours rest after inoculation, but for some reason Smith called us out to drill, as usual. After we had drilled a short while, one of the recruits, who had more ambition than strength, grew deathly pale, and was only prevented from fainting completely away by two of his comrades, who assisted him to a comfortable position in the shade of a large tree. Smith looked complacently on, and when the two recruits resumed their position in ranks, he said, "If any one else feels weak, he may drop out." One other recruit took advantage of the opportunity, and sought the cool shade at the edge of the parade ground. Just then "Top-sergeant" Dempsey (he, too, was a hard-boiled old army sergeant of about thirty years service) rode up on his bicycle and addressed Sergeant Smith in no very pleasant tones: "What t'hell d'yuh mean by bringin' these recruits out here today? They've got wind of it over at the hospital, and one o' the 'medicos' just called up an' raised hell with me." Smith uttered something unintelligible, and the discomfiture manifest on his sun-burnt old visage gave the recruits almost as much satisfaction as the knowledge that they would now be able to finish their poker games without interruption from Sergeant Smith.

Lost

"Neely, follow the railroad on your left right to Syracuse. It is only thirty-five miles, and you should be there in thirty minutes after you leave here." These were the instructions I received to guide me from Courtland to Syracuse. After greasing my face with cold cream, to prevent it from freezing, I pulled my scarf up around my face, fastened my helmet, and cleaned and adjusted my goggles. I then climbed into my little Thomas Scout and fastened the safety belt around my waist.

"Off charge!" I called to the mechanic.

"Off charge!" he repeated, as he revolved the propeller.

"Contact!" he cried.

"Contact!" I repeated, as I adjusted the throttle and snapped on the switch. With a roar the little nine-cylinder LeRhone motor started. I ran the motor slowly for a few minutes to let it get warm and then signaled with my hand. The blocks were removed from under the wheels.

I taxied the plane out to the far end of the field. I glanced at my watch, put on my gloves, and opened the throttle. The plane started forward with two or three bumps and I was in the air. I climbed very gradually until I reached an altitude of 500 feet. I then turned toward the railroad. Upon reaching it, I followed it to my journey's end. I then sat back and made myself as comfortable as possible, as the cold was intense. I was careful to keep my face behind the wind shield, as the cold wind felt like a thousand needles driving into my face. I roared along actually splitting the wind, and in a few minutes a city loomed up out of the haze.

"Can this be Syracuse?" I said to myself. I was surprised to get there so soon, and started to look the town over. I saw a school and immediately flew over to investigate. I was looking for St. Johns Military Academy.

When I got over the campus, I saw a Penguin running around on the ground. This was Cornell Ground School. I was over Ithaca instead of Syracuse. I had completely lost my way.

I did not know which railroad I had followed into Ithaca, and there were five of them. I started to find my way back to Courtland. I had been gone only fifteen minutes, but it seemed an hour. I followed each railroad for ten minutes and when I could not see any familiar landmarks, at the end of that time, I turned and went back to Ithaca. I followed the second road, but had to come back. I followed two more railroads, but at the end of ten minutes I found a small lake on one road, and a town of about five hundred population on the other. Instead of going back, I crossed a mountain to the only road left. I flew along and kept glancing at my watch; minutes were like hours. My feet were like ice, and my hands were so stiff and numb I could hardly use them.

I was worried. I did not know North from South. I was afraid that I had not followed the other railroads far enough. I kept looking at my watch time and again. Searching from side to side, I tried to penetrate the haze that had enveloped the earth. Slowly the seconds passed and still I did not know where I was.

I was just about to turn back to Ithaca when I saw, about two miles ahead of me, what I took to be a town. I kept on going toward it. Suddenly I recognized the Country Club at Courtland. Then after debating in my mind whether to go back or not, I turned and continued on my way to Syracuse, this time following the National Highway.

I immediately settled back in the seat thinking how lucky I had been to find my way again. I kept on tearing along with my speed meter registering about 90 miles per hour. I had gone about ten minutes when I saw a large white wall that looked like a cloud. Not wishing to get lost again, I cut my motor and started to dive vertically. I dived about fifteen hundred feet and then flattened out, but I was still above the wall of white. I dived again until I was within 50 feet of the ground. I wanted to go under these clouds if I possibly could, but immediately saw it was no use. They extended all the way down to earth.

I was into it before I could climb to any height. I opened my throttle wide, nosed my plane up, all the time keeping my eye glued to the tachometer. I did not want to stall my motor. The propeller drove the snow back against my face with the force of a sound blast. My face was cut so keenly by the snow that I immediately got behind the windshield. I could not see where I was. I did not know one direction from another. I was surrounded by a great white blanket that obscured everything. I had visions of me and my ship smashed up into an unrecognizable heap. I could even see the newspaper headlines: "Aviator killed in snow-storm." Still I kept going, not daring to turn back for fear that I would hit the top of a mountain.

Each second seemed like an eternity. I thought I had been in the snow for hours. Suddenly it became cleared ahead. I could see the light of day. In an instant I shot out of this wall of snow into clear sunlight. I was only 100 feet above the ground when I started to land. However, I changed my mind and continued on my journey. I landed at Syracuse about fifteen minutes later.

First Trip of a Navy Rookie

"All hands turn to," was the command early in the morning, and for once each man snatched a brush or a broom and vigorously began to use it. There was something new in the air. We were not sure, but our chief had hinted that we were to take a three days trip on the old ship, "Pam," to be initiated into the real life of the navy. We were crazy to go for we were tired of the station with its monotony. But assembly was not sounded until nine o'clock, and we had grown very impatient.

"Company of Quartermasters, Section 1, go to training ship at the docks." This command was greeted with a cheer, and when we were dismissed all of us made a rush for the barracks to get the necessary supplies. It was noon before we returned to the dock.

The Pam was a small craft of only about 3000 tons displacement but it looked big to us. We wondered how we were to get on the thing and were finally told we should have to climb a rope ladder. The first man who tried it got wet, and nearly ducked the whole company. He tried to climb the ladder on the rungs, but lost his hold, and tumbled backward into the water. But after a while we managed to struggle aboard and went to get our dinner. Then the chief, who had gone with us, spent the rest of the day in showing us around the ship. He was a fine man, but he didn't tell us to duck our heads to keep from having them knocked off. He would shoot down a ladder, across a boom, and up a mast quicker than a flash, and of course we tried to follow. By time for taps we were one soreheaded bunch, but we slept well.

It was a good thing we did, for the next day was to be a hard one. At the first note of the bugle we hit the deck, and went on a search for the bath room. Of course we didn't find it, so we asked an old salty looking sailor where it was.

"Bathroom, me eye!" he exploded, "where do you think you're at? Home? Get a bucket and get some salt water." Thus we got started. We ate an enormous breakfast, like a rookie would, and went above decks to look around. All was calm, but the barometer was rapidly falling. About noon the sea began to get rough and we began to feel uncomfortable. The ship rocked back and forth rapidly, and some went below decks very soon. Some of us fought off the seasickness until we were unable to go below and had to lie down on the deck. Some were hanging over the life line, and looking so woe-begone that I thought of J. Frank Marsh's story of his trip across and his parody: Break! Break! Break! On the sides of the ship O sea! And I would that I could anchor, the things that arise in me.

Finally, with the assistance of the main crew, everyone went below and we were laid up until the next day. Then they routed us all out and made us scrub decks and shine brasswork until we were only too glad when we came in to port and headed for the station.

The Horrors of War as Seen in the S. A. T. C.

On the morning of October 22, 1918, I alighted from the train that had carried me from my home in Wirt county to Morgantown, where I was to be inducted into the Students Army Training Corps. I went immediately to the University where the laborious task of getting into the army was begun. After much running around and making myself very tired, I was told by the Adjutant of the post that I would have thirty minutes in which to assemble all of my belongings and report to the University. In the meantime he had handed me a little slip of paper which had written upon it my name and the following: "C. O., Co. 5, Bks. No. 5, Signed, _____" I hadn't the slightest idea what that meant. In fact, I doubt if the officer himself could have read it fifteen minutes later. But be that as it may, the next forty-five minutes found me settling up my bunk in a space three feet by ten, while from my lips there floated the drawn-out strains of "Home Sweet Home."

The days that followed were filled with events never to be forgotten. The first two weeks were simply agonies repeated. For aside from being quarantined there was the process of inoculation and vaccination that had to be endured. Then came long hours of drill, long hikes, and endless hours of fatigue duty, and above all, the three daily disappointments at the mess hall. And through it all the idea of discipline was inculcated into the mind of every man. So thoroughly was this done that it became natural for a man, when he heard his name called or heard the squeak of leather puttees, to click his heels together and imitate some famous Grecian statue. I have actually seen sick men jump out of bed and stand at attention at the approach of the army physician and then be lectured for ten minute because they did not stay in bed.

But of the glory and honor derived from being in the Students Army Training Corps very little can be said. We see the overseas man arrive wearing his gold stripes, and with an envious look, see him welcomed back to the old town. On the other hand, our stripes are of mud and we get not so much as a glance. When asked if you were in the army, the answer is, "No. I was in the S. A. T. C." And the other person says, "Oh!" in such a disappointed way that you feel as though your character had been contained in those few words. And if in some future time, when perchance, some of my posterity will say to me, "Grandfather, what part did you play in the great war?" With a finger on my lips my answer will be: "Sh—! Little children should be seen and not heard."

"No Story"

We left home about five o'clock on Saturday afternoon on our first auto trip and we were bound for an Army Camp. We were loaded and stowed in that Ford as compact as the cargo in the hold of a ship. Two suit cases were strapped and roped on one running board. Sue, Beth and Sam were in the back with provisions under the seat below them and sandwiches, cold meats, salad and deviled eggs in baskets, bags and boxes in the bottom of the car. The robe rail was overflowing with coats and sweaters, a grip and an umbrella were in there too but where I don't know. I was driving and Mother sat restfully beside me. A new copy of the Blue Book lay open in her lap and piled under her feet was our new pump which was too long for the tool box.

The dirt roads were wide, smooth and free from dust. At Furfield we missed our route and took a two-mile side trip but, soon realizing our mistake we turned back again to the Highway. We went up hill only to come down. John Henry took the grades wonderfully. One large car, which passed us on a level stretch, we left behind on a long straight hill, and little Sam chuckled, "Yes, it takes a Ford to do it all right."

Now my Fliver is generally a well behaved, meek little companion who, I fear, is somewhat mistreated. On Monday I totally forgot to water him and after vainly trying to remind me, he could do nothing but stop in the middle of the road, panting and puffing for something to quench his thirst.

Tho not requiring much in the way of gasoline still Henry must have a certain amount in reserve when climbing long, steep hills. That evening with only a few yards to go my Fliver gave a lunge, another tug and then with a gasp he swooned.

Abused as he is, he still has a fine sense of humor, and does not hesitate to play jokes on me. When we had been on the trip only a few days and my Ford and I were enjoying such a nice ride, he began making a queer little noise. As he kept running really better than usual I paid no heed to the strange note. We sped past other travelers, up winding hills and coasted down the opposite side. With increasing pleasure I noticed my Fliver sounded as tho he had a cut-out and I vaguely wondered how he had acquired it. As we neared Monroe the outcry rapidly changed to an almost martial r-r-rat-at-tat-r-r-rat-tat-tap and I was scared! Cut-outs, so a sign posted warned us, were a forbidden luxury within city limits, yet by the time we had reached the outskirts of the town, Henry was raising a greater racket than anyone else. One might have supposed he was imitating the minous clank and clang of some fire alarms. Now thoroly frightened, I dodged down and thru back alleys and side streets to the first garage only to find that my Fliver had blown off his muffler just to tease me!

It was Thursday. We were still miles out in the country and suddenly our left front tire was as lacking in air as a pin-pricked balloon. We couldn't drive on with it like that; there was no one about to fix it; Mother and the children were innocent of all knowledge of "How to Change a Tire," and I was the only one left. I never in my life had changed a tire and Fords do not have demountable rims.

Well, I just pulled over to the side of the road a piece not bothering to notice just then the sun and its position in regard to me. I took off my nice new gloves, got out of the car and started to work. Of course, I'd often seen tires changed and new inner tubes put in, so I knew enough to jack up the Fliver on that side. Our jack is one of those advertised as being, "so simple even a child can use it." Naturally, I had no trouble there. I next unscrewed a protection cap from the air valve and took out the plug. Rumaging about in the dirty old tool box I finally pulled out two implements exactly alike which I decided must be the "removers." I must have been correct for there was nothing else in that box which could have been shoved under the edge of the tire. I remember having seen a garage man use a hammer, so I laid that out too. It wasn't difficult to pry up the outer casing and work it off the rim. Mother was surprised when she looked up and saw I had it off so quickly.

"It won't be long now till everything is ready for forward march!" I said with the assurance of an amateur. I pulled the tube out of the casing. What a tear it did have in it! Running my hand around in the tire I found a long, crooked nail. One could almost tell from the shape of it that it was a disagreeable natured young spike and I put it in my pocket so it could never cause anyone else such trouble.

After extricating the pump and a new inner tube from the tool box, I inflated the tube a little, put it in the casing and then—. Apparently that time had shrunk inches and inches. It wouldn't begin to fit the rim. I'd get it on a little piece and would turn the wheel to force it on farther around and ka-slip! off it would come again. I shoved, I pulled, I tugged. I tried sitting on the ground using my feet to hold the tire on at the bottom while I yanked at the top.

The sun pouring down, appeared to laugh at me and seemed to stroke my neck and shoulders as if I were a ruffled kitten—and it made me hot and angry and I was so dirty! Something flew in my eye and while working to remove it, I wished I'd never seen a car or a tire, and I remembered how easily a mechanic had changed tires and how in all stories some handsome and obliging young prince incognito always rode up to the assistance of the helpless maiden. And just then I noticed an eyewinker on the corner of my handkerchief! I kissed it and blew it away with a wish, a wish for an aid, even a homely one. The "infallible" enchantment failed.

No one came but maybe the charm did work in another way for by hammering and jerking and bracing with my feet I at last pried that easing over the rim. Then how I had to pump and pump! It took a prodigious amount of air to fill that tire so it would measure between fifty and sixty pressure. I have a tire gauge and Mother insisted that I use it. Only Mother was afraid of something which I knew never would happen—that I would pump that tire too full. Just as I finished putting away my tools a big car filled with officers came along. They stopped and offered to help me but the assistance had come too late for the trouble was adjusted. That was the last suggestion of calamity that we had and in the evening we reached our new home not far from Camp Wadsworth and Father was with us again!

The next day we spent exploring and asking questions about the Camp. It was all so big and expansive, covering something more than ten square miles. Everything was immaculately clean. There was not even a scrap of paper to blow around. Neat rows of khaki tents; mess-shacks with their constant companions the incinerators; the infirmaries, the German stockades, the green Y. M. C. A. huts, the brown K. of C. halls, the long office buildings of the Depot and of the Divisional Headquarters, the canteens, the Liberty Theatre and the men and officers, all in turn claimed our attention. And so began my gay free life in the Army for that is the only side of it that I saw. None of the tiresome drills and long lectures, but instead jolly trips thro camp in my Flivver watching calisthenics on one field; "squads right! squads left!" on another; and possibly an exciting game of medicine ball farther on. A shopping expedition to the Commissary always proved interesting. The semi-weekly visits to the hospital, where a patient is rarely found complaining, were always looked forward to with pleasure. Frequently we enjoyed band concerts given either individually in a regimental area or massed together and given in the large natural amphitheatre. And then the parties, dinners and dances or the two in combination. Oh it was all charmingly exciting. One day I remember the sky was overcast with dull, grey clouds and the sun seemed cold and lifeless. The damp, penetrating air and the red-clay roads, dangerously slippery took away much of the enjoyment of the drive to camp. The porches of the Base Hospital always comfortably filled with convalescing soldiers was noticeably abandoned. Usually gay with many laughing guests the Hostess House was almost deserted. Tho in camp we were more than a mile from Headquarters, when with a low rumble of thunder and a sudden flash of lightning, the storm broke. Scurrying soldiers ran to shelter, quickly fastening down the tent flaps. The rain driven by a remorseless wind beat down upon the swaying tents which cringed and shivered under the onslaught. The small, isolated quarters of the staff officers looked like so many forsaken bath houses mournfully along on the edge of the bleak, slate covered parade grounds.

The sunshine of army life during war times is always shadowed by the continual entrainment of troops for over-sea duty. On the morning of the last day in camp everyone is up almost before "reveille" and everyone from the Colonel of the regiment down to the latest buck private is on the "quive."

As soon as breakfast is over the kitchens are thoroly cleaned and left in proper order. All officers baggage is stacked in a central place from which it is collected by a large army truck, and taken to the entraining station. Each company street is carefully policed so the area may be in readiness for inspection and for incoming troops.

At the time appointed the bugle sounds "assembly." The men, joking and laughing, fall in line, quickly coming to attention to receive final instructions. Led by the regimental band playing exhilarating marches, the regiment begins its hike from the area to the railroad.

They form an interesting sight these men with their blanket rolls and knapsacks strapped to their shoulders and backs; their canteens hung in khaki holders from the belts; an extra pair of field shoes, a steel helmet and entrenching tools fastened to the straight hung blanket roll. The medical detachment of the regiment closes up the long column. Their rolls, unlike the ones carried by the infantry are rounded, curving like a horse-shoe from the waist to the shoulders. This is necessary because of the bulking medicine belt. It has many compact pockets in which are carried the medicine and first aid equipment likely to be needed on the journey.

After the regiment reaches the station, if the train is not made up, the men are allowed to rest. Many unstrap the heavy pack and slip it from the shoulders. Any passing farmer, or negro with his cotton pickings and poky mule, is hilariously greeted and mercilessly teased. All are uproariously happy, for now it is only a matter of hours until the port of debarkation is reached, and then the long looked for trip across the water.

When a Captain receives word which coaches are for his company "assembly" is again sounded; the roll called and the order given for "all aboard." Three men are allowed a double seat. The officers all go in a pullman.

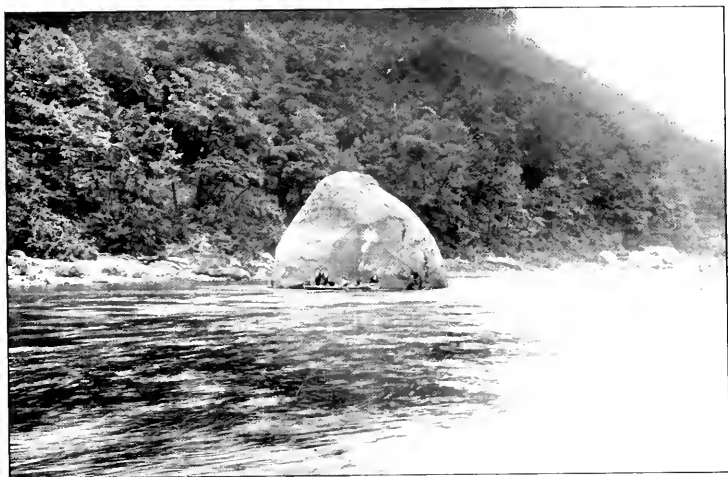

Y. M. C. A. and Red Cross representatives pass out magazines; small urchins sell candy, peanuts, chewing gum, pop corn and cigarettes. The troop movements are not made public, there are always a few friends to wave a last good-by to the departing regiment.

EDITOR'S NOTE

In a final statement the Editor desires to express his appreciation to every one who has in any way assisted in the publication of this book. He is especially indebted to the members of the staff who have so consistently given their time and energy to the work. Without a single exception the work of the staff has been highly satisfactory. It was only through the splendid co-operation of the entire staff that the publication of this book has been possible.

He is likewise indebted to the members of the Junior Class for their hearty support, without which support there certainly could not have been a Monticola published this year.

T. W. Moore of Charleston, and K. Negano of the Junior Class, furnished the art work and the Editor is under special obligation to them for their excellent cartoons. He also wishes to thank Professors Stathers and Chitwood for their kindness as censors.

ROBERT D. HARMAN.

A WORD OF THANKS

At the beginning of the second semester, when the "1920 Class" began to talk Monticola the big question raised was, "Have we the time and money to do it?" This problem has been solved and I wish to thank all those who have helped do it.

Mr. L. E. Friend and the Northern Engraving Company deserve the thanks and the appreciation of the entire class for the efficient and satisfactory manner in which they did their work in so short a time.

The business men who have helped make the book a success by their advertisements are friends of the class and University. They are deserving of the patronage of the student body. We also take this means of thanking Senator Davis Elkins for the interest he has shown in our work and the help he has given us.

The printing and binding of the book is to be done yet. However if we judge the printers' work by the class of work which they are accustomed to do we need not hesitate to thank them now.
